Scripture Verse of the Week

Yahweh saw that human wickedness was great on earth and that human hearts contrived nothing but wicked schemes all day long. Yahweh regretted having made human beings on earth and was grieved at heart. And Yahweh said, 'I shall rid the surface of the earth of the human beings whom I created -- human and animal, the creeping things and the birds of heaven -- for I regret having made them.'.....But with you I shall establish my covenant and you will go aboard the ark, yourself, your sons, your wife, and your sons' wives along with you.
Genesis 6: 5-7, 18

A Message from Katrina

In this week's scripture verse is from the story of Noah's Ark. God can see our hearts and back in the days of Noah the hearts of nearly all of the humans had no love for him or others in them. Sin spreads throughout the world.

The Flood is the consequence of the the widespread sin. It is also an illustration of the ancient belief that God washed the world clean and gave those who believed in God another chance. We see this cleansing of Sin in the sacrament of Baptism where we wash away the stain of original sin. At the time of Baptism we are given an indelible mark on our soul. This mark tells evil we are God's. In some other christian churches baptism can be done many times. Part of the reason this is done is because they don't have the Sacrament of Reconciliation. We are human and we will sin. To be cleansed again we go to Reconciliation. When I came into to the catholic church in 2022 at age 19 I had been in a christian denomination that although only believed in one baptism. It was believed that you didn't need to confess to a pastor unless you felt the need to. You could just say sorry for your sins to God and as long as you were truly sorry you were forgiven. For my entire life up to that point I was always wondering was I sorry enough, was I truly forgiven, etc. Once I recieved my first reconciliation I knew in my heart I was forgiven. Reconciliation is not scary it is beautiful just like Baptism is.

Another perspective on Confesion. What are your thoughts?
