GIFFT Night & This week Classes

Thank you to those who came to GIFFT Night last week. For those who were unable to make it there is an assignment for you on the FF page of the website.

This week there is class!

Light Supper is Shredded Chicken wraps with sides.

There is EPIC after classes.

8th Graders will be going on a church tour in the sanctuary, choir loft, and sacristy of the church. Parents you invited to come and learn the history and all about the nooks and crannies of All Saints-St. Hedwig's.

10th Grade girls we will be in the 8th grade room for this week as the 8th graders will be using the sacristy we are in for the church tour.

If you have not already signed up for two Youth Masses please go to the FF page and fill out the form. The dates are on the calendar and on the website by the form. I will be asking those who have signed up for the one in October and to read, to choose a reading this Wednesday. We will be practicing in two weeks after class.

A Message from Katrina

You will notice that I did not keep with the Sunday readings for the Scripture Verse of the Week. How many of you look and/or act like one of your parents? How many of you have been told something similar? I have been told all my life I look just like my mom. At one time it bothered me, during Jr. High when she was mistaken for an older sister, as I got older I realized it wasn't a bad thing. I am a reflection of my mom and my dad. We are all reflections of God. He made all of us in his image and likeness. Many times we hear that as Catholics/Christians we are to be the light to the world. God is light and we are to show that to others. Look for Jesus in others and show others Jesus through you. Another thing to remember is that although we may want to change things about us. God says we are fearfully and wonderfully made. Don't change yourself for others! God made you in his image. He made you the way he wanted you.

For this week's Catholic teaching explained is from Marie Mazzanti and she is telling us Why is October great. Starting with a saint that is listed on the side panel. Check it out here:
